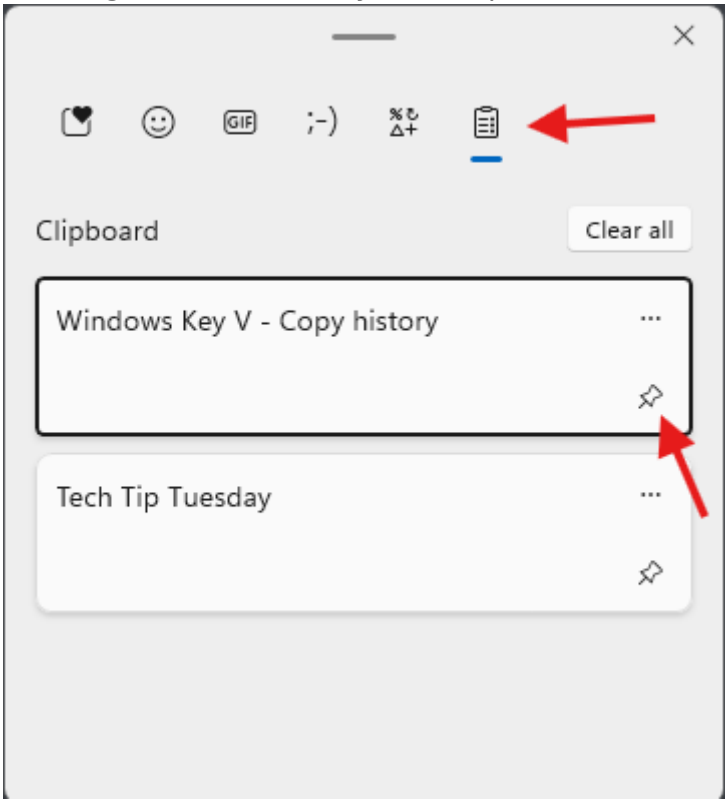
Clipboard History, Emojis, Math and Language symbols

Pressing the Windows Key and V in Windows 11 opens a powerful tool that allows you to paste anything you have recently copied as well as emojis, gifs, math symbols, and language symbols from an expansive library.

Pressing the Windows Key and V opens the following window.



By default, the clipboard history is displayed. Clicking on the text/picture will paste the selection into the document, email, or other app being used.

Bonus tip: Click the Pin to keep the item in your clipboard history. A pinned item will stay in the history even after a reboot.

If you like to add emojis□□, gifs, or Kaomojis(❁´◡`❁) to emails or documents simply click the option in the menu, search/scroll, and click the item to paste.

Finally, the symbols area allows you to paste just about any symbol imaginable. Need an obscure math symbol or letters in another language? Chances are it will be here!

They are organized into the following groups:

- General Punctuation
- Currency
- Latin
- Geometric
- Math
- Supplemental
- Language

Revision #1
Created 2026-10-29 20:50:23 UTC by Carl Clements
Updated 2026-10-29 20:50:23 UTC by Carl Clements