

Windows 11 - Move start menu to the left

Windows 11 introduced a change, moving the start menu from the traditional bottom left of the screen to the center. This doesn't bother some people, but others find it infuriating! If you are in the latter group, it only takes a few clicks to move the start menu back to the left.

1. Click on the Start Menu.

image

2. Type in "Settings" and press enter.

3. Click "Personalization" on the left side of the System dialog box.

image

4. Scroll down a bit and click on "Taskbar"

image

image896x205 6.59 KB

5. Click "Taskbar behaviors"

image

image874x174 6.79 KB

6. This will expand the Taskbar behaviors menu. There is a drop-down menu to the right of Taskbar alignment. Select "Left" in the drop-down menu.

image

image859x208 5.89 KB

Revision #1

Created 2025-06-30 20:46:03 UTC by Dustin Faust

Updated 2025-06-30 20:46:36 UTC by Dustin Faust